

Expanding your product range with Sysgration's HMD-M200

Expand into new generation of medical solution

Sysgration HMD-M200 brings you the latest in voice-activated, hands-free, remote collaboration and data capture technology to support industrial metaverse with the world's first pocket-sized wearable computer, extending the reach and capabilities of your workforce and turning any user with an HMD-M200 into a virtual expert.

Lightweight, compact design that fits comfortably in your pocket

Intuitive voice controls and easy-to-use interface enables total hands-free operation

Durable design that is drop, dust, and water resistant and can be easily cleaned with alcohol wipes

Smart connectivity to enterprise systems, Android apps, and third-party IoT devices and wearables

Industry-leading security with fingerprint recognition technology for user authentication

